

Alina Tsolakakis

BLUE PRINT STORY TELLING

"Modern design and minimalist taste create a functional space."

Alina Tsolakakis

THE PROJECT: AISLING MICRO HOTEL

Hotel Design & Concept Development by Alina Tsolakakis

Based in Oia, Santorini's most picturesque village, Aisling Micro Hotel expresses the brilliance of the Aegean Sea. The hotel provides astonishing sunset views and offers modern accommodation and amenities.

Alina Tsolakakis

BLUE PRINT STORY TELLING

Photography © Christos Drazos

QUICK FACTS

Aisling Micro Hotel

Oia, Santorini

Hotel Design & Concept by Alina Tsolakakis

Number of rooms: 5

Operation period: May-October

Project duration: 6 months

Project implementation: 3 months

THE CONCEPT

Transform a small lodging into a luxurious, modern boutique hotel - this challenge inspired Alina Tsolakakis and her team to create a dream unit named after 17th and 18th century Irish literary movements.

THE REALIZATION

Alina Tsolakaki and her team used every millimeter of available space to construct Aisling Micro Hotel. A white and blue color palette makes the space look larger. Each suite has a different name, underlining its unique character.

Some spaces are 'caved', while other rooms have bathrooms separated into three parts. A double washbasin behind the bedhead provides views of the transparent shower.

Some rooms are built on two levels, with steps that appear to float towards the upstairs bedroom. Jacuzzis either inside or outside the suites overlook the sea - the ideal holiday accommodation for couples.